Herbert Hoover's Son Dies at Age of 65

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Hoover Jr., who shared the politics and interests but never reached the political heights of his father, the 31st president of the United States, died Wednesday at the age of 65.
Huntington Community Hospital said Hoover had been hospitalized with an illness for a little more than one week. A spokesman declined to give the nature of the illness or cite the cause of death.
The younger Hoover was 25 years old when his father became president. Already married, the son busied himself in research and engineering positions at Harvard Business School, Western Air Express, and Transcontinental and Western Air during his father's four-year term in the White House.
His major specialty was in petroleum geology. From 1954 to 1957, he served as under secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration after serving as a special consultant on petroleum to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.
Hoover born in London, earned a bachelor's degree at Stanford, like his father, then went on to take a master's degree from Harvard.
He listed himself as a Republican but his hobbies and professional interests seemed to outstrip his political nature. He belonged to many professional engineering and petroleum societies and had been president of the International Radio Relay League and the International Amateur Radio Union.
His father, at the age of 80, watched as the younger Hoover was sworn in as undersecretary of state. And the son was asked why he had given up a successful business career for governmental work.
"I do not think of such service in terms of sacrifice," Hoover replied, "for the chance to serve one's country, at any time and in any way, is the greatest privilege that a man can have."
The family requested that contributions be made to the Patient Assistance Fund of the Huntington Memorial Hospital.
There was no press announcement of the death and newsmen learned of it from a paid classified in a newspaper.
A private funeral will be held at Pasadena's All-Saints Episcopal Church at 2 p.m. Monday.

DEATH TRAP snags four mosquito larvae which became attached to a seed placed in water. University of California scientists claim to have found weed seeds that emit a kind of glue. When mosquito larvae contact the seeds, they are fatally trapped, according to the scientists, who say a pound of seed may serve as "killer" of 25 million larvae. They feel the method might be an effective way of controlling mosquitoes without the use of chemicals.

turbed at an apparent feeling in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that it could cover losses and higher costs by getting Congress to raise taxes which finance the programs.
"Looking down the road," said Bennett, "I fear that if the department cannot provide a method of controlling costs, we in Congress will try to provide a method which means we will be writing federal legislation regulating doctors' fees and prices for prescriptions and hospital day care."
The committee staff now is putting together a bulky report on its findings.
Experts are expected to make proposals to reduce complexity in the programs and to eliminate what they say amounts to double payment.
Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration which administers Medicare, said his agency had started tightening up in recent months. As a result carriers now are reducing physicians' charges at an average rate of 5.2 per cent, he said.
In addition, Ball said a near freeze on further fee increases has been imposed.
John G. Veneman, welfare undersecretary, said new controls were imposed last month on Medicaid payments.
Medicare covers the 20 million Americans 65 and over health care for persons on welfare and those with incomes too high for welfare but too low to cover their medical expenses.

Actor's Wife Accuses Him
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor David Janssen's estranged wife says he is spending large sums on presents for actress Rosemary Forsyth and at the Las Vegas gaming tables, and she wants it stopped.
In a petition filed in Superior Court Wednesday, Mrs. Janssen said her husband had picked up a tab for at least $7,300 for clothes and jewelry for Miss Forsyth. Also, the petition said, Janssen dropped $8,700 at the Caesar's Palace casino in Las Vegas in April.

Nelson Charges Agri Men With Holding Report

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson has charged the Department of Agriculture with sitting on a report condemning the general use of DDT.
Agriculture officials denied any such report exists, but did announce Wednesday the department had ordered a temporary halt in the use of nine persistent or long-lasting pesticides—including DDT—in government pest control programs.
The Wisconsin Democrat called on Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to ban use of the toxic pesticide altogether.
Nelson said the department has kept the report quiet because "they haven't done anything about it."
Dr. G. W. Irving Jr., administrator of the USDA's agricultural research service, and Harry W. Hays, director of the pesticides regulation division, said no such recommendations have been made to Hardin.
"If there had been a report I would have known about it," Irving said.
Nelson acknowledged the report may not yet have reached Hardin's desk. But he added: "There is no doubt in my mind the report exists."
He contended the department's temporary halt to use of DDT in its own programs was a "ridiculous palliative" designed to assuage public opinion.
Nelson said Hardin set up a special intradepartmental committee to study the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council Report On Persistent Pesticides.
The USDA committee recommended a ban on aerial dusting with DDT and use of the pesticide in "aquatic areas"—near lakes, rivers and streams, he said.
Nelson has contended DDT is contaminating America's waters—especially in the Great Lakes area—and poisoning the environment for fish, wildlife and even man.
The committee's recommendations don't go far enough, he said, even though they are "a step forward."
The temporary suspension—military completion of a 30-day review—affects USDA pest control operations on military and civilian airports, joint federal-state projects and national forests.
Undersecretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell, who announced the suspension, said it was ordered because of "the present concern over protection of our environment from contamination."

dead in the first 26 weeks this year.
Another 1,548 Americans were wounded last week—772 of them hospitalized—compared to 1,674 the previous week.
South Vietnamese casualties and the number of enemy dead reflected similar drops—274 government troops killed and 586 wounded last week compared with 446 killed and 804 wounded the previous week, and 2,381 enemy killed compared with 3,485 the previous week.
The new casualty reports raised to 37,019 the number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, 238,147 wounded and 1,325 listed as missing, captured or interned. For the same period the U.S. Command lists 526,085 enemy dead.
The figures were released a few hours after the first contingent of 9th Regiment Marines left Vietnam.
The U.S. Command also announced the end Wednesday of the regiment's last major combat operation, Utah Mesa, centered south of the old combat base at Khe Sanh. Spokesmen said it killed 309 North Vietnamese troops in four weeks while the 9th Marines and the 1st Brigade, U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, suffered 35 killed and 178 wounded.
The 9th Regiment will remain in Okinawa as a ready reserve unit. It was the first American combat unit committed to the Vietnam war. Since its arrival March 8, 1965 American troop strength in Vietnam has risen to 539,500.
The 9th is the second American unit to be withdrawn from Vietnam under President Nixon's 25,000-man cutback. On Tuesday the 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division flew to the United States for demobilization at Ft. Lewis, Wash.
Spokesmen said the Marine regiment, unlike the composite Army battalion, is going to Okinawa as an intact unit. They said some of the Leathernecks have completed only two months of their Vietnam tours, whereas the 788 infantrymen who flew home three days ago all had completed a major portion of their tours and were pulled from several units.
No major sustained ground fighting was reported today but U.S. headquarters listed 29 overnight rocket and mortar attacks—double the total of the previous night. Twelve were termed significant in that they caused damage or casualties.
The command also reported North Vietnamese troops ambushed a U.S. Army convoy about 60 miles north of Saigon Wednesday, setting off sporadic fighting that lasted six hours. North Vietnamese casualties were reported as 22 killed, while four Americans were killed and 11 wounded.
It was the second ambush in as many days. On Tuesday the Viet Cong killed nine U.S. paratroopers and wounded seven in an ambush 50 miles south of Da Nang.
Spokesmen said Wednesday's ambush began when a truck in the convoy hit a mine. The North Vietnamese then opened up with automatic weapons, rockets and grenades, and troops of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment responded with heavy weapons from their tracked vehicles.
The Americans called in helicopter gunships, artillery, tactical air strikes and reinforcements.

Gromyko Wants Better U.S. Relations

By JOHN WEYLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko condemned Red China today and made a bid for developing friendly relations with the United States.
Gromyko, in a major foreign policy speech before the Supreme Soviet—parliament—said the Kremlin favors talks with Washington "to find positions of agreement both on questions of bilateral relations and on unresolved international problems."
He warned Peking that attempts to use armed force against the Soviet Union "will be met with the necessary rebuttal."
Despite the belligerent tone, he expressed readiness to hold talks with China "on a wide range of questions" but gave no indication that the Mao Tse-tung leadership had shown interest.
Gromyko's one-hour and 50-minute speech showed an increased Soviet willingness to deal with Washington and a hardening hostility toward China. It apparently reflected a pro-Western change in Kremlin foreign policy following a series of bloody incidents on the Soviet-Chinese border.
The Soviet foreign minister proposed talks on Berlin to prevent trouble from flaring up there again. The Kremlin attitude toward the divided city has been considered a barometer of its interest in getting along with the West.
His bitter criticism of Peking contrasted with marked mildness toward the United States. He passed lightly over Vietnam, which used to rate long diatribes here, and used a conciliatory tone in other references to Washington, stressing the desirability of talks.
The earth rotates from west to east.

Borman's Visit to Russia Was Pleasant

MOSCOW (AP) — Astronaut Frank Borman left the Soviet Union for home today after a goodwill visit he called a "complete success and a personal pleasure."
Borman and his family were seen off at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport by Soviet officials, cosmonauts and their wives. He blew them a kiss just before entering the Soviet commercial airliner taking him to New York via a brief stop in London.
"I am leaving today with a very fine memory of a wonderful 10 days," Borman told an airport news conference. "Everywhere we went we were received with warmth and friendship from Russians in all walks of life."
Borman said that when he gets home he will ask the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to invite Soviet cosmonauts to the United States, but added: "The timing of the Apollo 11 moon flight will make it almost impossible for a cosmonaut to attend that."
Borman was given the most enthusiastic reception ever received by an American in the

TUESDAY, JULY 15

Wesleyan Service Guild No. 1 will have a potluck supper Tuesday, July 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. G.G. Medders. Note change in meeting date.

ENTERTAINED WITH TEA

On Wednesday, June 25 Mrs. A.L. Park and Mrs. Tom Kinser entertained with a seated tea for Mrs. Malcolm Porterfield. The party was given in the Park home, where pretty summer flowers made attractive decoration. Pink and white checkerboard cake was served with strawberry ice cream to 20. The hostesses presented a gift to Mrs. Porterfield, a recent bride.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Pink roses were used in the home of Mrs. Harry Hawthorne, when she was hostess for a meeting of her Tuesday Bridge Club on July 8. Club members enjoyed a pleasant afternoon, and when scores were tallied, Mrs. George Newborn was high. Cold drinks were served during the game.

Coming, Going

The Rev. and Mrs. T.H. King, Carmi, Ill., are visiting Mrs. Mary Jaeger and Miss Aurie Huntley. Other guests in the Huntley home, Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown and family, have returned to Liberty, Mo.

Mrs. Paul Rawson will leave Thursday, by plane, for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Wayne Bayliss in Oxnard, California. She will be joined by another sister, Mrs. Carl Temple and daughter of Des Moines, Iowa.

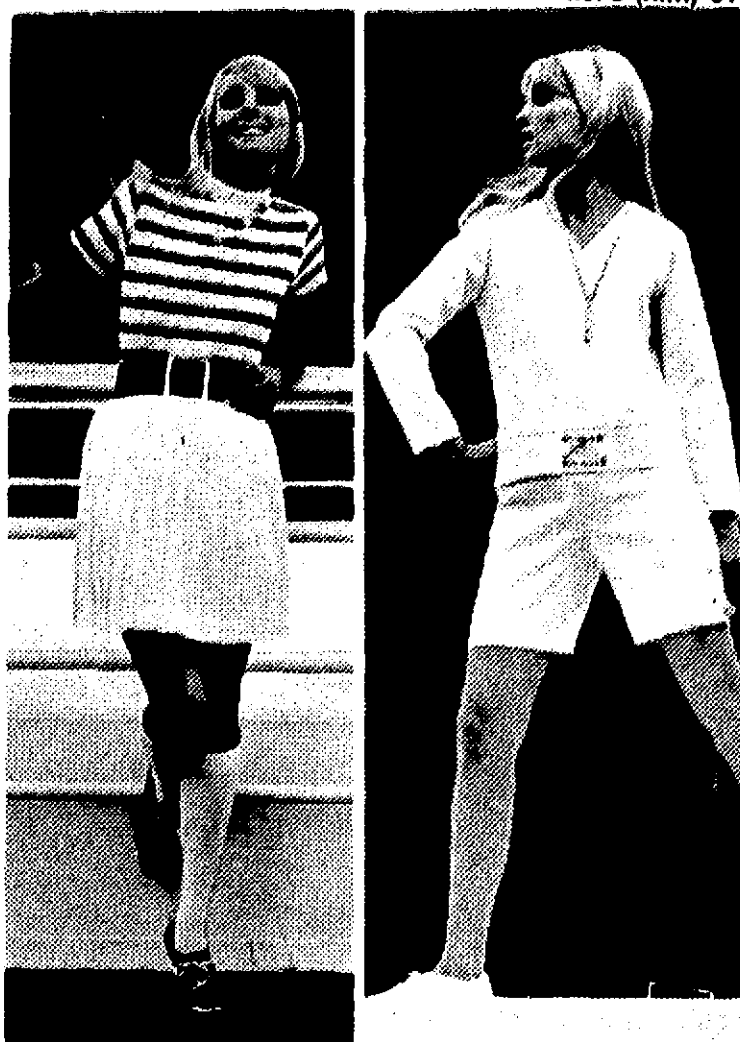

Mrs. Cyril Munn is spending the week in Little Rock with the Max Halberts and the John Honas.

Mrs. Harry Hawthorne has gone to Richardson, Tex., to see the Bill Wirske family.

J.W. Cassidy and two daughters, Sharon and Debbie, have returned home to San Francisco, California after visiting his mother, Mrs. Irma Wheelington.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor visited relatives in the Dallas area last week.

Mrs. Hazel Castle and Miss Ora Mae Moody went to Waldo Tuesday to see their sister, Mrs. W.W. Reagan.

Think how simple it would be to board ship in a neatly dotted striped red, white and blue knit (left) teamed with a pleated white nylon skirt. It is a great look for a nautical adventure. Long-sleeved middy with its own whistle (right) partners a nifty pair of bermuda shorts with lacings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Baker will have as Thursday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Speedy Hutson of Little Rock.

Mrs. Mary Sue Evans is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W.F. Broening in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The Charles Tarpleys are leaving Friday for a visit in Corning with the Allen Drillings. They will all tour North Arkansas next week.

Kay Franks of Russellville is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Franks.

SHE WEARS TOO WELL

Dear Helen: I don't want to seem mean or selfish. Honest, I don't mind my girl friend BORROWING my clothes, if only she didn't look twice as good in them as I do!

She has style. On her my dress-ess get compliments. On me, they just hang there and look stupid. She fills them in the right places. Same thing, when I borrow something of hers. I put it on, and it dies.

I'm beginning to hate all my nice clothes because after my friend wears them, I know I'll never feel the same in them again.

Should I stop lending and taking trades—and how to do it without hurting her feelings?—DUD

Dear Dud: Why not instead ask for tips on how to make clothes do the most for you? If you two are the same size, then what you probably need is flair, poise, better posture, perhaps, a change in the way you walk.

Learn her tricks, and you'll both wear well.—H.

Dear Helen: Not long ago a "SAD LITTLE SISTER" really tore into her big sister. Well, I'm a kid brother, and I don't feel that way. This is what a Big Sister is to me:

She is someone who is first to keep you out of a fight, but if you fight and win, she is first to congratulate you.

She is the one who likes to blackmail you, but never tells soul what you did.

She always says, "You're not going to the game with me when I drive," but she lets you go anyway.

Even when you're sick, she tries hard to cheer you up, though you are real grouchy and don't deserve it.

Before your voice changes, she tells you to answer the phone and impersonate her to find out if it's the kid she can't stand.

If you get in trouble she is the first to comfort you and try to fix things up.

She is the best person in the world, even when she yells at you.—A YOUNGER BROTHER BILL

Dear Helen: Sisters don't get much praise from younger sisters. Here's mine:

What is my big sister to me? She is the one who pays you lots of money to clean her room and sew for her. She brings you home a new blouse when you call her at the office and cry because you lost your boy friend.

She comes to your pajama party to eat all your food and goof around with kids five years younger—and she makes them feel very important.

She tells you that you are pretty when you feel ugly, and then lets you wear anything she owns, even if it's brand new and she hasn't worn it yet.

She is a person who shares your secrets and lets you mess around with her eye makeup. She sets your hair and does your finger-nails when you have a special date. So you don't get upset when she expects you to vanish two minutes after her boy friend rings the doorbell.

She even helps you with your algebra!

What is my big sister? Everything anyone could ask for—LITTLE SISTER UGLIER. WANT A COPY OF "WHAT IS A BOYFRIEND?" "WHAT IS A GIRL FRIEND?" Send a stamped self-addressed envelope to HELEN BOTTLE, CARE OF THIS NEWSPAPER.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences.

STITCHIN' TIME

By JUDY LOVE

If the weight of the morning's mail bag is any indication, knitters pick up their pens when they give their needles a rest. Many are asking for specific styles to knit, and recent letters show a preference for a good, basic suit—simple and smart.

The answer for most of you will be the three-piece hand knit I'm featuring today. It has a sleek and easy skirt with a classic cardigan jacket. The suit is a modified version of the ever-popular Chanel styling with its clean lines and narrow border trim. As an added attraction, the suit includes a sleeveless, square neck shell knitted in a three-color stripe. You'll want to wear it with other knitted or fabric skirts, too.

Knit the costume in Bucilla Paradise Yarn in colors to suit your favorite season. Instructions are available for sizes 10 to 18.

For your copy of an instruction booklet for the three-piece suit, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, c/o your local newspaper, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for leaflet S172 and be sure to include your name, address and zip code.

Mets Making Like Team After Flag

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Their dizzying dash towards the more respectable neighborhood in the National League standings has turned everything topsy-turvy for the prosperous New York Mets.

Tom Seaver pitched a one-hitter, beating Chicago 4-0 for the Mets' seventh straight victory Wednesday night. It trimmed the Cubs' lead over New York to three games in the East Division race. It should have been a source of great joy. It was, believe it or not, a source of great disappointment.

That's because Seaver flirted with immortality by retiring 25 consecutive Cubs before rookie Jimmy Qualls ended his perfect game bid with a one-out single in the ninth inning.

That single by the No. 8 hitter in the Cubs' line-up deprived Seaver of his line in the record book but it couldn't keep New York from continuing its tear towards the top. Yet, it added the touch of aggravation that always seems to follow the Mets.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh nipped Montreal twice 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2, Philadelphia split with St. Louis, winning 7-1 before losing 5-3, San Francisco bombed Houston 10-3, Cincinnati edged San Diego 4-3 and Los Angeles dropped Atlanta 3-1.

In the American League, Baltimore edged New York 6-5 in 10 innings, Detroit nipped Boston 6-5, Washington shut out Cleveland 3-0, Chicago tripped Oakland 5-3, Kansas City defeated Minnesota 4-3 and Seattle split a doubleheader with California, winning the opener 8-0 and dropping the night cap 5-0.

Seaver drove in a run with a second inning single as the Mets jumped on Ken Holtzman, knocking out the Cub left-hander and taking a 3-0 lead in the first two innings.

Then Seaver became a one-man show, retiring the Cubs 1-2-3 in every inning. He struck out five of the first six batters he faced and fanned 11 for the game.

Randy Hundley bunted Seaver's first pitch in the ninth inning and the pitcher threw him out for the 25th Cub to go down in order. Then Qualls rapped the next pitch for the hit. Seaver then retired the next two hitters easily to end the game.

He termed the one-hitter "a disappointment" but around the Mets, that word is commonplace. If every disappointment was a one-hitter, they'd never complain.

Pittsburgh swept the Expos, winning the first game on Richie Hebner's leadoff triple in the 10th inning and a one-out single by Jose Martinez and then taking the second one on an eight-inning pinch double by Willie Stargell.

Matty Alou, who had six hits in the doubleheader, opened the seventh inning of the nightcap with a single and came around to score Pittsburgh's tying run on a sacrifice, a wild pitch and an error. Then Fred Patek beat out an infield single with two out in the eighth and Stargell doubled him home.

Woody Fryman pitched a seven-hitter and Johnny Briggs tagged a two-run first-inning homer that carried the Phillies past St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader.

Home runs by Joe Torre, Vada Pinson and Lou Brock earned the split for the Cardinals, with Brock's two-run shot in the ninth erasing a 3-2 Phillie lead.

The Giants, held to one hit for seven innings by Denny Lemaster, exploded for four runs in the seventh and then got a bases-loaded homer by Bob Burda and a solo shot by Dick Dietz in the eighth to whack Houston.

Tommy Helms cracked a single, two doubles and a triple, leading Cincinnati past San Diego. Airtight relief by Pedro Ramos and Wayne Granger in the late innings saved the victory for Jim Merritt.

Bill Singer pitched a four-hitter and Los Angeles tightened its grip on first place in the West Division by knocking off Atlanta, Manny Mota, who went 8-for-10 in Tuesday's doubleheader sweep against the Braves, added three more hits Wednesday.

James, Hope Auto Keep on Winning

CBC, James Motors, and Hope Auto continued to win in Little League Play Tuesday Night. In the first game of the evening, Hope Auto outscored Lion's 10 to 8.

In the second contest James Motors team played heads-up baseball in defeating Sheriff's 13 to 3. Barry's put up a good battle for 3 innings before CBC pulled ahead for an 8 to 3 victory.

The standings show CBC still in the lead with 10 wins and 2 losses, James Motors running second with a 9 to 3 record. Hope Auto in 3rd with 6-6 record. Barry's and Sheriff's have 4 wins against 8 losses, and Lion's are 3 and 9 for the season.

Shreveport in Victory Over the Travelers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Oscar Brown's two-out, two-run triple in the fifth inning proved the difference Wednesday night, as the Shreveport Braves downed the Arkansas Travelers, 3-1.

Singles by Robert Tony, Faustina Zabala and Charles Guth brought in one run in the fifth. Brown's three-run triple, Brown's triple came on a fly ball on which outfielder Alan Putz missed a shoestring catch at a home-plate pinch double by Willie Stargell.

Bob Castiglione and Dale Roberts blanked the Travelers after Putz tripled home a run in the first inning.

Nicklaus, Casper Are Making Bids

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper cranked up a typical American challenge in pursuit of New Zealand's Bob Charles at the outset of the second round of the British Open Golf Championship today.

Nicklaus, starting nine shots behind Charles' record-equalling 66 in Wednesday's kickoff round, grimly tackled Royal Lytham's 6,848-yard par 71 course and promptly conquered at least the first half of it.

Nicklaus, the blond belter from Columbus, Ohio, went out in a two-under-par 33. He bogeyed the third hole but then the long game and putting that has carried Nicklaus to the heights clicked with two straight birdies 4s on the sixth and seventh, and a birdie deuce at the ninth.

Casper, of Anita, Calif., starting off with a solid one-under-par 70, had less of an assignment to overhaul Charles and went about it in workmanlike fashion. He, too, shot an outgoing 33 with two birdies and seven pars.

The field of 130 was blessed with an overnight rain that freshened the course and encouraged bold play. The ball was staying where it was hit, which is mostly what the top stars want.

Only the low 70 and ties will survive tonight's 36-hole cutoff. After Friday's third round the field again is cut to low 45 and ties for Saturday's final.

George Archer, the U.S. Masters champion from Gilroy, Calif., withdrew from the championship because of illness.

The 6-foot-6 Californian, who shot a 79 Wednesday, was stricken with gastric enteritis and a heavy cold soon after he arrived in Britain.

Doctors confined him to bed for two days and he had little chance to practice on the course.

"I've been left a little weak as a result of the gastroenteritis," Archer said. "Also I've had this cold and it's no good me trying to carry on when I don't feel good."

Alex Caygill, 28-year-old English pro who has been having a good year on the British circuit, started out with a bogey, then a double bogey 6 at the second.

Suddenly he came alive, birdied the fifth, eagled the long sixth and birdied the seventh, which put him out in one-under-par 34.

Caygill fairly raced home with three birdies and six pars for 34-33—67 to go with his opening 71 and stand at four under par for the 36-hole trip a mighty comfortable slot.

Seattle and California in Shutouts

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle and California traded shutouts Wednesday night, the Pilots taking the opener of the twi-night doubleheader 8-0 as Fred Talbot hurled a three-hitter and smacked a grand slam homer and the Angels copping the nightcap 5-0 on George Brunet's seven-hitter.

Nixon Back, Senators Win Game

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ted Williams summed it up after winning Wednesday night something like Richard Nixon must have after winning last November: "It's about time!"

"I've known him since 1950 and I've been a Nixon man all the time," Williams insisted after his Washington Senators blanked Cleveland 3-0 with the President in attendance. But Nixon's three previous trips to the ballpark this season meant nothing but grief—and losses—for the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City nipped Minnesota 4-3, the Chicago White Sox tripped Oakland 5-3, Baltimore edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 10 innings, Detroit took Boston 6-5 and Seattle walloped California 8-0, then lost 5-0.

In the National League action, the New York Mets whipped the Chicago Cubs 4-0, Los Angeles downed Atlanta 3-1, Cincinnati nipped San Diego 4-3, San Francisco shelled Houston 10-3, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 5-3 after losing 7-1 and Pittsburgh swept Montreal 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2.

The Senators, who had beaten Cleveland 10 of 12 without Nixon's help, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Mike Epstein's bloop double. The President arrived in an inning later with daughter Tricia and son-in-law David Eisenhower, just in time to see Del Unser single for one run and Frank Howard do the same for another.

Joe Coleman breezed with a four-hitter, struck out 11 and gave the President the final ball of the game when he stopped by the Washington clubhouse. Nixon wouldn't take it, though, until Coleman autographed it.

"He really shows me something by coming out," Coleman said. "It gives you a big boost when you know he's in the stands. I hope he keeps coming out, especially when I pitch."

Ed Doherty, a Senators official, reported the President kept watching the scoreboard during the game, hoping Baltimore would lose so Washington could up ground.

"He was overjoyed when Dave McNally was knocked out," Doherty said. "And he kept rooting for Howard to hit a home run. Everytime Howard came up, he jumped up and shouted, 'Hondo, Hondo, hit one.'"

Hondo didn't, but Pete Ward did, a three-run pinch hit shot in the eighth inning that powered the White Sox past Oakland and prevented the Athletics from gaining on Minnesota in the AL West.

Ward connected on the first pitch thrown by reliever George Lauzerique after a walk and a single against Paul Lindblad set things up.

Lou Piniella, a season-long pest to Minnesota, drove home the tying run with a fifth-inning single and the winner with a grounder in the seventh as Kansas City snapped the Twins' five-game winning streak and kept them 3 1/2 games ahead of Oakland.

The Twins built a 3-0 lead with single runs in the first three innings, including Harmon Killebrew's 24th homer. But Joe Foy's two-run homer started the Royals back in the fifth and Piniella singled to score Mike Flore, who had doubled.

Robinson Not in All Star Lineup

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League hopes to roll out the old home run cannon to try to snap the National League's six-game win streak in the July 22 All-Star game at Washington with sluggers like Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard in the starting line-up.

The big surprise in the line-up, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was the absence of Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, the third base starter five years in a row. Brooks gave way to Sa Bando of the Oakland A's.

Baltimore, breezing along in the Eastern Division, wound up with outfielder Frank Robinson and first baseman John "Boog" Powell in the starting eight (pitchers are picked later). Oakland, running second to Minnesota in the Western Division, also had a pair—Bando at third and Jackson in the outfield.

Rico Petrocelli, Boston's shortstop who has developed into a long tall threat, topped the balloting of players, managers and coaches with 286 votes. The next best was Jackson's 260. Players were not permitted to vote for their own teammates.

Howard, the giant-sized Washington slugger who is fighting with Jackson for the home run title, was one of three repeaters from the 1968 starting line-up. The others were catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit and second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, the current batting leader.

Baltimore and Oakland each had two starters and Minnesota, Boston, Washington and Detroit one each. By divisions the East had five, the West three.

Members of the National League's starting line-up will be announced Friday afternoon. The remainder of the 28-man squads, including pitchers, will be selected by the managers and announced over a 10-day period.

Mayo Smith, who led Detroit to the pennant last year, will manage the Americans against Red Schoendienst, his World Series rival as skipper of the St.

Louis Cardinals.
The vote for third base was close with Bando beating Brooks Robinson 163-126. At first it was Powell over Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota 210-96. Killebrew also got 33 votes for third base although the players were told to vote for a man at only one position. Bando won over Tommy Harper of Seattle, 255-32 in the second base competition involving nine players. Petrocelli had a 286-18 edge over Mark Belanger of Baltimore at short and Freehan beat out John Roseboro of Minnesota 155-74 for the catching job.

Outfielders were not named by position. The top men were Jackson, 260, Frank Robinson, 250, and Howard, 169. Next best was Paul Blair of Baltimore, 98.

The 1968 starters who did not make it were Killebrew at first, Brooks Robinson at third, Jim Fregosi of California at short and Willie Horton of Detroit and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, winner of two straight league batting titles, in the outfield. Any or all may be picked later by Manager Smith.

Arnold Palmer looks as though he simply tees the ball up, grimaces and swings as hard as he can. A closer look, however, shows that Arnie actually employs a way of striking the ball that has been mastered by only a few men.

The secret to Arnie's explosive long-iron shots is the unusual hand action he uses—not to mention his unusual forearm strength. Palmer's style permits the player to swing at the ball as hard as his body will allow and still hit with power and accuracy.

At address, Arnie's left hand is in a fairly weak position, meaning that he can see slightly less than two knuckles when he looks down at his grip. Aside from being a safety measure to prevent hooking, it also keeps his left hand square at impact.

In the takeaway, Palmer draws the club back inside, putting himself into a fairly flat swing plane. At the top, he noticeably lays off the clubhead, getting it into a closed face position.

If the clubhead were left closed until impact, the ball would hook sharply, but Arnie compensates by constantly moving his left hand down and under until the clubhead squares itself off in the hitting zone.

The big danger in this technique is that if you turn your left hip out of the way too soon, you'll duck hook. If you try this, be patient. Arnie's method is his own and is difficult to master.

The Nobel Peace Prize is generally recognized as the highest of these honors.

French Quarter in New Orleans Has Been Saved

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The city's old French Quarter, long a mecca for fun-loving tourists, has been saved from the intrusion of a six-lane highway.

The highway project was officially put to death in Washington Wednesday, leaving defenders of tradition in a state of euphoria and the city with a $1.3 million hole in the ground.

John A. Volpe, secretary of transportation, confirmed reports that the federal government had withdrawn financial support for the expressway as part of the interstate highway network.

Construction of the road, Volpe declared, "would have seriously impaired the historic quality of the French Quarter."

That's what landmark preservationists led by Martha Robinson and Mark Lowrey have been saying all along.

The Quarter is an original old square of New Orleans in the center of the city.

It is familiar to thousands of tourists who have wandered its narrow streets and reveled in its bars and nightclubs.

The expressway was vigorously backed by business groups as a necessity for quicker movement of traffic.

The decision in favor of preservation left an embarrassing cavity under the recently completed Rivergate, a big convention facility at the foot of Canal Street. It's a tunnel which was to have connected with the expressway.

Now the 690-foot tunnel goes nowhere.

Mayor Victor H. Schiro said some use must be found for the big hole in the ground. He got quite a few suggestions.

A WELL-PLANNED PATH PERKS UP ANY GARDEN

By MR. FIX

A garden walk can be both useful and attractive. It is the sort of project a homeowner can complete in a weekend or work on occasionally through the summer, since it is one you can start and stop easily.

The materials are varied in appearance, style and price. Some can be used in combination with others.

When most people think of a path through a garden, they think in terms of flagstone. They are expensive but you can cut down on costs by using them as stepping stones instead of trying to make a solid path.

If you are just going to flop them on top of the ground, the thicker and heavier ones are better.

More stable. For a more formal walk, dig out enough earth for about two inches of sand to serve as a base. This will compensate for different thicknesses of stone. Make wood forms for the walk before pouring the sand. If you want to make it a semi-permanent walk, the easy way is to sweep in a mixture of one part cement, two parts fine sand (or a ready-mix of about the same proportions) and, with the cracks filled, wet down with a fine spray of water.

For a really permanent walk, make a standard concrete walk for a base first—about four inches of gravel and a couple of inches of concrete. Place the stones, sweep the dry mix into the cracks as mentioned above and wet down.

Bricks make an attractive walk and can be set in a bed of sand or in a concrete base just as flagstone. Since they are regular in shape, they are easier to butt together for a smooth walk.

Wood makes a different and attractive path. Whatever wood you use should be treated with a preservative. Redwood, cypress and cedar will be the most durable but you can make others durable by treating them.

Two-inch slabs cut from logs can be set in sand or right in the soil for a quick and easy walkway. Old railroad ties, cut into blocks, can be used the way you would bricks. If you plan to make your wooden path more lasting by setting the pieces in concrete, make certain the wood rests on gravel and not the concrete. This will allow for better drainage and lengthen the life of the wood.

Gravel, crushed stone and other loose material can make an appealing walk. Mix colors and textures for effect. To keep the material from scattering, edge the walk with wood strips or bricks set in the ground. Make the path about two inches thick.

Stones such as pebbles can be edged with a line of larger stones, since they do not scatter as easily.

With time, patience and a little energy, you can make your own paving material. Use a concrete mix or make your own of one part concrete, two parts sand and three parts gravel.

Make forms out of 1x2 lumber, about 20 inches wide, 2½ feet long. Put the form on newspaper, fill with mix and smooth it off. You can use the slab as is or break it for irregular shapes. Or save work; dig wide, shallow holes (about two inches deep) where the path is and fill with concrete.

It doesn't complicate your life.

Maverick is the simple machine—simple to own, simple to repair, simple to service, simple to drive.

It doesn't cost a lot.

With prices everywhere going sky-high, Maverick comes along with a down-to-earth price—$1995.*

It doesn't have a tiny trunk.

Maverick gives you 10.4 cu. ft. of trunk space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. Now the whole family's luggage can go along for the ride.

It doesn't squeeze you in.

Some big people live in this country. That's why we made Maverick bigger than the imports. Lots of legroom and shoulder room.

It doesn't squeeze you out.

It's great for parking, great for handling, great for zipping through traffic.

It doesn't cost a lot for maintenance.

You can do most maintenance jobs yourself, if you want. If your mechanic does it, he can do it in a lot less time. Great when time is money and the money is yours.

It doesn't need a lot of service.

Maverick oil changes and chassis lubrication come less often than in the leading import. (Isn't it time you started seeing less of your mechanic and more of your car?)

Cheaper by the doesn'ts.

It doesn't skimp on essentials.

Maverick gives you tough brakes, unitized body construction, rustproofing, and four coats of paint. Its 2-speed transmission is able to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.

It doesn't burn a lot of gas.

Maverick gives you the kind of mileage you'd expect from a little import—even with a powerful six-cylinder engine.

It doesn't hold back on power.

Turn on the engine and turn loose 105 horses—nearly twice as much as the leading import. This means highway power, passing power. The kind of power you need.

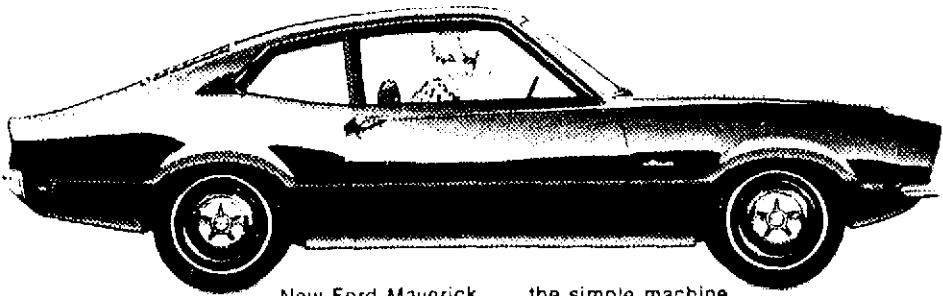

It doesn't handle like a kite.

The road might be wet and the wind strong but Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high—great for stability. (Most economy imports are higher than their tread is wide.)

It doesn't follow the herd.

Maverick's new, different. A bright idea with bold, new colors. See your Ford Dealer for the rest of the story. Find out why Maverick is the hottest selling new car to come along since Mustang.

As a Boy, He Wanted to Go to Moon

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — As a boy, Neil A. Armstrong had a dream. He wanted to land on the moon. In a few days he and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to do just that.

"For me to fulfill the dream is a stroke of incredibly good fortune," Armstrong said. "I suppose the chance of doing what thousands of people through history have wanted to do, the chance of this chain of events taking place in this section of history is beyond the ability of the oddsmakers to calculate."

At a time of concentrated involvement in Apollo 11, Armstrong is nevertheless looking ahead, to the next giant step, in his desire to fly, to continue questing eternal mysteries, he wants to rocket again into space.

"With the first lunar landing, I don't agree that we've reached the peak," he said in an interview. "I think it is just a beginning. I really suspect that the flights of the next decade will be even more interesting, more engulging than the ones of the past."

"The objective of our flight is to take men to the moon, make a landing and return safely to earth," he said. "It will demonstrate to mankind that we can do that kind of a job. How well we'll use what we learn in the future, only history will tell. Based on the experience of the last decade, I believe we will use that knowledge."

"Even now," he said, "our future direction is beginning to emerge. People are looking at things that can be practical in space. I don't know what the decision of the nation will be, but I can envision space stations, space shuttles, lunar shuttles, advance lunar exploration and planetary exploration."

Why this overwhelming desire to fly?
"I don't think I fly just for the sake of flying," Armstrong replied. "It's a way of performing a service and it's a tool."

"Why does a carpenter like to saw? Oh, maybe he doesn't, but he's fortunate if he does. He doesn't really consider his job as sawing. He considers his job as building."

"I like to consider our job as building—building a transportation system, building the state of man's knowledge, building man's inclination to learn more. That airplane and that spacecraft are my saw."

Armstrong also knows there are dangers in his business. "Everything conceivable has been done to assure our safety on Apollo 11," he said. "We have high confidence in our systems. Otherwise we would not go."

"But we must realize things can go wrong. On any flight, those things that are new are the most dangerous. In our case it will be the descent to the surface, the landing, the lunar surface activity and the liftoff from the moon."

Armstrong does not compare Apollo 11 with history's great explorations and voyages like those of Columbus, Magellan, Lindbergh and Byrd.

"Our flight varies from many of the great explorations of the past in that they probed into great areas of the unknown," he explained.

"Hopefully, that's not the case with us. We think we know a good bit about the area where we're going. There are some details which are still masked by distance. But, all in all, ours is not a flight into the unknown."

Pointer Gets Five Years for Embezzlement

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Former Pine Bluff City Collector John Pointer Jr. was found guilty Wednesday of embezzlement by a Jefferson County Circuit Court jury that recommended punishment of five years in prison.

The jury deliberated about 15 minutes before returning its verdict in the three-day trial. Circuit Court Judge Henry W. Smith of Pine Bluff set formal sentencing for Monday morning. Bart Mullis of Pine Bluff, Pointer's attorney, indicated that he would appeal to the state Supreme Court. Pointer remained free on bond.

He was charged with embezzling $32,473 in a period from Jan. 1, 1966, to May 10, 1968. Pointer was relieved of his duties in May 1968.

In his closing statement, Prosecutor Joe Holmes of Pine Bluff said that checks to the collector's office had been substituted for cash and deposited in Pointer's account. He also based his closing statement on missing receipt books and alleged falsified deposit slips.

Mullis argued that Pine Bluff had an antiquated, "cracker barrel" accounting system. He said all employees in the collector's office and other city employees had access to deposit slips.

The federal Bald Eagle Act forbids killing bald eagles or even possessing or transporting any part of a bald eagle, feathers included.

Negro Boycott Widespread in Forrest City
FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — The Rev. Cato Brooks, co-chairman of the Committee for Peaceful Coexistence, said Wednesday that a Negro boycott of downtown Forrest City merchants had spread citywide.
Negroes, who had demonstrated over a number of grievances, had stopped picketing some stores Tuesday, but resumed picketing Wednesday. Pickets showed up at some stores that had not been picketed before.
Dr. Norman K. Saliba, head of the Forrest City John Birch Society, took pictures of the pickets Wednesday, saying that "Forrest City is playing a small part in a Communist conspiracy to take over the United States."
Meanwhile, boycott leaders said plans were going ahead for a "mule train" march from Forrest City to the state Capitol in Little Rock. They hope that the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, will lead the march.
A boycott spokesman said Wednesday that local Negroes met Tuesday night with SCLC members and that the SCLC members had declared that Forrest City was "a backyard of the Ku Klux Klan."
The words "Burn" and "Blackstone Rangers," the name of a Negro gang in Chicago, were written on some store windows Tuesday night.
Negroes handed out leaflets Wednesday outlining their grievances. The leaflets call for equality and representation on "all levels" and for Negroes to work with the police department and school system.

Cutback in Troops Is Approved
By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have quietly approved a call for a far greater cutback in U. S. troop strength in Europe than now planned by the White House.
Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield described as inadequate President Nixon's order to withdraw some 15,000 military men from overseas bases during the next year.
The White House did not disclose the specific areas involved, but the order announced Wednesday exempted Vietnam and other spots of trouble and tension.
"This is a step in the right direction, but it's only a drop in the bucket," Mansfield said in an interview.
It was learned the Senate Democratic Policy Committee already has agreed to back a resolution urging the administration to substantially reduce U.S. manpower in Western Europe.
A Senate source said Democratic leaders discussed the issue Tuesday and agreed in advance the resolution would have their formal endorsement.
"The trend is fine," Mansfield said after the announcement of the forthcoming 15,000 man recall. "The only thing to do is accelerate it."
He said the United States is maintaining 2,700 bases, 400 of them major installations, covering 4,000 square miles in 30 foreign nations.
All told, he said, some 1.75 million troops, dependents and employees are based overseas.
Mansfield said it would represent real progress if those figures were cut in half.
The White House announced 14,900 men will be brought back to the United States during the next year "in the interests of lessening budget and balance of payments costs and of reducing the American presence overseas."
This, plus a reduction of some 5,100 civilian employees abroad, could lead to eventual balance of payments savings of $75 million, the White House said.

Civilian Payroll Cuts Are To Be General, Including a 10 per cent reduction in South Vietnam.
But the military cuts do not apply to forces in Vietnam, South Korea, Berlin, to other areas of Southeast Asia where U.S. forces support military operations, or to manpower committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.
Presumably, this means reductions in U.S. forces in Spain, Japan, and Turkey.
The kind of cutbacks Mansfield wants would have to come in the NATO area, exempt from the Nixon order.
The United States has 226,000 men in West Germany alone. Mansfield said the German shape in the United States to provide forces for their defense. But he added: "It isn't Vietnam, it's principle — 'The fact that the government might like them there,' Mansfield said, 'doesn't mean them there.'"
Meanwhile, West Germany agreed Wednesday to provide $1.52 billion in the next two years to help maintain American troops and their dependents in Germany.

Nixon Proposal to Junk Voting Act May Fail
By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal to junk the 1965 Voting Rights Act in favor of his own broader measure appears doomed to fail its first congressional test.
A solid bipartisan majority of a 13-member House Judiciary subcommittee was lined up against the President's bill in advance of today's vote, indicating the panel would approve extending the 1965 act, which is favored by civil rights groups.
The outlook for the administration's proposal, which would expand voter protection to all 50 states rather than the seven southern states covered by the current law, is not much better in the full Judiciary Committee which will take up the legislation next Tuesday.
GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, looking for cosponsors of the administration bill among the 15 committee Republicans, was able to find only two junior members willing to join him in introducing the measure Wednesday, Reps. Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut and Charles E. Wiggins of California.

Also joining Ford were party whip, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the chairman of the Republican Policy Committee and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.
Notably missing from the list of sponsors, however, besides the senior Judiciary Committee Republicans were Rep. William M. McCulloch, of Ohio, the GOP's leading civil rights supporter in the House, and Rep. John B. Anderson, of Illinois, who holds the No. 2 GOP leadership spot behind Ford as chairman of the Republican Conference. Both are strongly supporting the existing law.
The lineup in the Judiciary Committee and on the list of sponsors signal the deep split in Republican ranks touched off by Nixon's proposal, which opponents have called a political payoff to the southerners who supported his presidential bid.
The 1965 law was designed to increase Negro registration and voting in the South. Since its enactment 800,000 Negroes have been registered and scores have been elected to local offices.
The chief provisions in the law are a ban on literacy tests in the seven states and a requirement that they get court approval before putting any changes in election procedures into effect.
Nixon has proposed extending the ban on literacy tests to all states and eliminating the requirement for prior approval of election changes. Under his bill the attorney general would be authorized to bring court action to block a change he found discriminatory. It is this proposed revision of the existing law that has drawn much of the criticism of civil right leaders.

Haircuts Fit the Equipment
PITSEA, England (AP) — Gerry Lee bought new construction equipment, but he felt his 12 employees spoiled the looks of the new machines because their hair was too long. He asked them to get haircuts, with his money and on his time.
"We didn't mind," said one. "I must admit we looked scruffy besides the new equipment."

DO-IT-YOURSELF REHANDLE WITH CARE

By MR. FIX

It's a shame to give up a good hammer, ax or hatchet. Therefore, when the handle cracks or breaks, it's a natural thing to want to replace it, the metal head still being perfectly good.

It's a fine idea and one that should be pursued, but pursue it slowly and carefully. The reason a new hammer or ax feels so nicely, seems to feel just right, is that it is a planned balance of handle and head.

When you replace the handle, it is not something you can do lightly. That old tool is not going to be the same, nor perform the same, just because you put a new handle on the old head.

Try to find a handle that duplicates the original as closely as possible in weight and size. Examine the wood carefully and avoid crooked grain. Try to find one in which the edge grain goes from one end to the other. Flat grain should be on the sides. If the grain runs from one side of the handle to the other, toss it back and pick another.

Fitting the handle to the head is not difficult, but it is a slow and meticulous job. The new handle will be larger than the eye in the head of the old tool. A light touch with a wood rasp is what you need to make it fit. But be sure to take no more off one side than the other. Too much wood from one side of the handle will affect the balance, make the tool hang crooked.

Fit the head over the end of the handle. Do not force it. When it reaches a point where it will go no farther, take it off and remove the wood at that point with the rasp. Don't remove too much. Keep fitting and filing.

Try to maintain the original shape of the handle as you file off excess wood. Do not leave sharp corners.

When the head fits over the handle and makes contact at all surfaces, you are ready to wedge the handle. The handle probably has wedge slots already cut. You may have to cut them deeper or cut more of them. Most hammers are better with two wedges and axes with three.

Steel wedges are what you are likely to find on your dealer's shelves, fine for tightening up an old tool but not too good for a new handle. You are better off cutting some slim wood wedges that you can shape for better fit. Use the pieces of the old handle. It is more important that the wedges penetrate deeply than that they are fat and spread the handle too much.

Drive the wedges gently so that you don't break them. The end surface can be crushed once the wedge is in. If the handle and wedges protrude through the head, cut off the excess with a hack saw. File the end smooth.

To finish the job, wipe on varnish well-thinned with turpentine.

Clues to Identity

An excellent clue to the identity of an unknown person is the mark on his clothing placed there by his laundry, cleaner or tailor. The larger metropolitan police forces keep a file of such marks, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

IT'S A MATTER OF BASICS. As part of a basic design class at Ohio's Kent State University, Donna Beers made this air structure from balloons and plastic bags. At least it's easy to carry.

Forrest City Officials Sued by NAACP Lawyer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An attorney representing the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund plans to file suit soon against Forrest City officials.

John W. Walker of Little Rock said he would file the suit on behalf of the fund this week or early next week in U.S. District in Little Rock.

Walker said Wednesday that the number of city officials to be named as defendants had not been determined.

Walker said the fund's entrance into the Forrest City dispute stemmed from Monday's action by Municipal Court Judge O. H. Hargraves, who fined Eddie Tate $50 and sentenced him to 10 days in jail on a contempt of court charge for allegedly making a face at the judge in a court appearance June 30.

Tate also was fined $110 for spitting on a sidewalk.

Tate has been identified as a member of the Invaders, a black militant group from Memphis that has participated in a Negro boycott of downtown Forrest City merchants.

Walker said Wednesday that the state Supreme Court would be asked today to review Tate's case.

Walker said Wednesday that he had sent a representative to see Circuit Court Judge Elmo Taylor of Searcy, whose circuit includes Forrest City, but that Taylor had said he wouldn't consider an appeal of Tate's conviction until the regular term of court in September.

When state remedies are exhausted, he said, it was possible that Tate would seek relief through a petition to the U.S. Supreme Court.

William McPhatter of the NAACP fund said Wednesday that Forrest City Negroes solicited the fund's assistance. McPhatter said the fund notified Walker of its decision to support him in the case.

Use Only Empty

Hermit crabs use only empty shells since they are not capable of extracting the original mollusk and must wait for shells to be empty of their original occupants.

The Seal of the President

Mrs. L. T. Wichita Falls (Tex.) Times: You are right. The reverse design on the Kennedy half-dollar is the Presidential Seal. The law does not require the Great Seal of the United States on a coin. Just the eagle on any denomination larger than a dime. The Seal of the President of the United States resembles the U.S. seal, but there are some variations. It is the personal property of the President and no one may use it for any reason without his consent. This copy was received from the White House expressly for use in my column and I am happy to use it to demonstrate an answer to your question.

John Greenlaw, Tacoma (Wash.) News Tribune: Your Barber-head quarter with the head of Liberty in three-dimensional relief is a rarity these days. It was very popular to produce this effect on the dime but very few 25-cent pieces have been seen. There are many who have never actually observed this craftsmanship. I suggest you send it to James Johnson, Coin World, P.O. Box 150, Sidney, Ohio 45365. He will examine it for authenticity and run a photograph in his column for others to see. Your collector's item will be returned to you with his thanks.

Mrs. Edward Nielson, Bridgeport (Conn.) Post: Since you want to realize the maximum amount for your old coins, I suggest picking up a copy of Coin World or Numismatic News at your newsstand. These publications are weekly issues and, if you can identify your pieces, you will have no trouble finding the right buyer.

Mr. Dean Smith, Wichita Falls (Tex.) Times: If you will look at the extreme upper edge of your five-dollar bill, just above the United States of America, I am sure you will find the words FEDERAL RESERVE NOTE. If it were a silver certificate, it would say so in this space. This particular series (1950-E) is signed by Granahan and Fowler and, according to my records, is still in print. Paper currency does not change dates each year like our hard currency and for that reason it is possible that your note may still be on the press. If so, there isn't much of a chance it will have more than an intended value.

Miss Dorothy Kapity, Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal: I am sorry if your paper did not carry the address to help you order proof sets. Right now, it wouldn't be of much value because no further orders are being taken for proof coins. Secondly, it would be impossible to order back-dated sets. The mint discontinued this policy many years ago. It is never possible to order anything but current dates, and when the new issues are being readied for public consumption, this column will give the proper method and address.

One-dollar-size coins will find their way into general circulation, especially in the West. Five years ago, one western community was in need of dollar coins to the extent that the merchants actually glued two half-dollars together to make a silver dollar.

IT DOESN'T TAKE MONEY, just imagination, to turn empty city lots into playgrounds. This playlot in New York's West 87th Street is one of 14 set up in the last year and paid for through private donations. An old ferryboat propeller makes a great scrambling place while mothers rest in an obsolete lifeboat. A youngster climbs on a bollard that once held a ship's mooring lines while another peers out of a "space rocket," actually an old iron lung, one of the pieces of salvage material contributed. Unlike most playgrounds which cost New York an average of $40,000 to set up, this one cost the city nothing.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To get to Barbara Feldon's home you put the car into gear and aim it for the sky.
Barbara lives in a two-bedroom house perched at the top of the Hollywood Hills, in ear-popping, cliff-hanging drive up from the smoggy valley below.
Dressed in a black sweater and pants, Barbara was at the door and padded about the house in her stocking feet. Her dark hair was pulled back into a pony tail and bangs and she looked ready for a caper as Agent 99 on "Get Smart."

The series, which topped Emmies as the outstanding comedy show and for star Don Adams, was snatched up for next season by CBS when NBC dropped it.
Settling on the sofa, Barbara said, "It really was a shock, because our ratings were very good. It was a surprise, not a shock. I wasn't dismayed, however. I had a feeling of buoyancy. Suddenly, the whole horizon opens to you. Movies, my own series."
She laughed. "The next day

CBS bought it and I felt that a great sense of security had settled back over me."
Barbara said she couldn't be happier with the life she leads. "We shoot in three days and that gives me four days free," she said. "On the set you're romping, wearing funny costumes. I love to put moustaches on."
"With four days off you can live, that's what you can do, which is what most actors complain about. I take guitar lessons on my day off. I can play tennis. I have friends in for a dinner a few nights a week."
Barbara was asked about reports that she and Don, her husband on the show, will have twins early in the season in an effort to boost the ratings.
"That's what I've read in the papers," she said. "We did a show last week where I just told Don I was going to have a baby. My progress is going to be rather rapid. As you watch, folks!"
"I was afraid when we got married last year that it wouldn't work out. But it opened new avenues for the writers," Barbara said. "They tell me they can handle the babies, too."

Standing on a tripod by the sliding glass doors of the living room was a six-inch telescope. "I look at the moon, mainly," she explained. "I love to see the sun hit the tops of the mountains on the moon. You can get lost in that."
Barbara was asked what kind of movie roles she wanted to play. "It would be easier to do the dramatic parts I trained for," she said, "but that leaves you feeling wrong out after a day of crying on the set. I'd rather giggle and laugh and joke and romp."

Jerry Buck is subbing for vacationing Cynthia Lowry.

Swimming Safety

Never go beyond your limitations when swimming. Each year there are hundreds of accidental drownings caused by the failure to observe a few basic safety rules. Avoid swimming in unsupervised or unknown waters. Don't swim in cold water or immediately after eating. By doing so, you run the risk of fatigue or cramps. Never engage in horseplay in the water, such as dunking, false cries for help etc.

Admirals Are Quiet About Soviet Voyage

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nation's admirals, who have thundered for years about the growing Soviet naval challenge, are unusually restrained about a Russian squadron making a "show the flag" voyage to Cuba.

Sources indicated one reason stems from a State Department desire to treat the Soviet naval move in low key, to avoid a Moscow blast against U.S. fleet operations in international waters adjoining Russian territory.

Two U.S. destroyers last month cruised the Black Sea for four days to demonstrate this country's right to sail there.
American fleet units also concentrated in the Sea of Japan, a few hundred miles from Vladivostok, during crises growing out of the North Korean seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo and the downing of a Navy reconnaissance plane.
Asked for his assessment of the voyage of seven Russian naval vessels toward Cuba, Adm. Thomas Moorer, chief of Naval Operations, limited himself to this statement: "Naturally, the United States Navy is interested in the movement of Soviet Naval ships to Cuba, and Atlantic fleet units will conduct routine surveillance of these ships during their transit."

"This surveillance is normal in nature. Our Navy carries out similar surveillance of Soviet units in other parts of the world, just as is the case with the Soviets' observation of our deployed ships."
This had a much tamer sound than Moorer's warning to Congress earlier this year that "We are confronted by a formidable and expanding threat to our supremacy at sea" from the Soviet navy.

Repeatedly, Moorer and other admirals have noted with concern the Russian build up of a formidable naval force in the Mediterranean, their cruise into Indian Ocean waters where they never before were seen, and the extension of their submarine and surface operations far into the Pacific and the Atlantic.
The Soviet voyage, described by Russia as "a friendly visit" to Communist Cuba from July 20 to 27, comes at a time when the Senate is debating a defense bill containing authorization for the Navy's shipbuilding program.
Some backers of the Navy are hoping the Russian voyage will remind the Senate of past warnings by the admirals that the Soviet Union is ominously extending its seaward reach.

The Russian ships are traveling in two groups, last reported by U.S. patrol planes as at least 600 miles away from the U.S. East Coast.
Traveling in one group are three modern guided missile warships and a support vessel.
The other element includes two submarines and a submarine tender.
The many interconnected canals of Osaka, Japan, have 1,000 bridges built to cross them, according to the Britannica Junior Encyclopedia.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

 Man has been chewing various gums and resins
 for enjoyment since ancient times. The Greeks
 chewed gum from the mas-
 tic tree, Maya Indians
 chewed chicle and Indians of New England introduced the colonists to chewing spruce tree resins. The World Almanac says.
 Spruce gum became the first commercial chewing gum when John Curtis marketed his "State of Maine Pure Spruce Gum" in 1848.

"All butchers don't wear white aprons," remarked the young expert. "I played with one the other day. Of course, I shouldn't have put him in seven but he had promised never to bid a no-trump with less than 16 high-card points. This time he had only 15."

It seems that the so-called butcher had played out dummy's king and queen of diamonds and then proceeded to go down because West held four diamonds to the jack and East the long spades. We can't go along with calling this South a butcher. We feel that only an expert in very good form would have worked out the winning line of play. Here it is:

South wins the spade in dummy and notes that West had almost surely opened a short suit. Then he cashes four clubs, discarding two spades from dummy. He notes that East has shown up with four cards in that suit. Now South runs off three hearts and is careful to discard his seven of diamonds. East follows to the hearts also and, in addition, South has noticed that West discarded a heart on the fourth club.

At this point, expert South has some sort of count on the East and West hands. At least, enough of a count so he is pretty sure that West started out with either three or four diamonds. Then he leads a diamond to his ace and sees the eight-spot drop from West. South has to decide right here and now if that eight was a singleton. If he makes the right decision, he leads his 10 of diamonds and lets it ride if West doesn't cover with the jack.

If West does cover, South returns to his hand with the king of spades and now we see why he had to get rid of the diamond seven. He can lead the three and win with dummy's six if West plays the five.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two no-trump your partner has jumped to four hearts. What do you do now?

Sharp Retort to Ultimatum on Schools

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A new federal warning to the State of Georgia and the City of Chicago on school desegregation has drawn a sharp retort from Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, while Chicago school officials deny their facilities are segregated.

"As far as I'm concerned, they can take their ultimatum and ram it in their satchels if they want to," Maddox told an Atlanta news conference Wednesday. "Phooey on the whole crowd!"

In Chicago, the city's school board president, Frank M. Whiston, and Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said, in a joint statement, "We have never practiced segregation of faculty in Chicago, but we have permitted seniority of choice of schools by our teachers."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard warned Wednesday in Washington that the government would press lawsuits against Georgia and Chicago unless they move to end public school desegregation.

It was the third day in a row that the Justice Department acted to end school desegregation, and the 10th and 11th warnings issued in that time.

The Georgia warning, in a letter to the state superintendent of education, Jack P. Nix, demanded a "complete disestablishment" of dual schools for white and black pupils in the state's 194 school districts. Ninety-seven are now considered in compliance with federal guidelines on desegregation.

Nix said, "I don't think the state can set policy if desegregation means reorganization of schools. The state board doesn't have that authority."

In the Chicago situation, the Justice Department letter to Whiston demanded complete faculty integration. Leonard said a department survey showed a third of the city's schools have all-white or all-black faculties.

Chicago has the nation's third largest public school system, behind New York and Los Angeles.

Thomas Murray, a school board vice president, said an Illinois law requires that teachers be assigned to the school of their choice in relation to their tenure.

A Negro school board member, Mrs. Carey B. Preston, said the teachers' union would have to work with the board to solve the problem.

Warren Bacon, another black school board member, said he welcomed the warning but added:

"I do not think the action the federal government has taken is broad enough nor is it a significant counterbalance to the disgraceful relaxation of federal guidelines for the desegregation of Southern school districts."

Two Georgia civil rights leaders also were critical of the federal action.

"I am not too enthusiastic about the Justice Department trying to speed up desegregation in Georgia," said Sam Williams, second vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

John McCown, executive director of the Georgia Council on Human Relations, said, "We view it with mixed emotions. We don't know if this is a delaying tactic or whether it is possible. If it is, we'd like to see it done."

Old and Tired, Says Actor

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Actor Henry Fonda has been admitted to a hospital for treatment of what a spokesman described as influenza.

A nurse said the 64-year-old actor told her upon his arrival Wednesday: "I'm just a tired old man and I want to be left alone."

Biracial Study Starts Monday

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — A four-week study of the problems of biracial school districts will begin Monday at Ouachita Baptist University here and Arkansas A&M College at Monticello.

About 250 Arkansas school teachers are expected for the conferences, which will focus on the problems of school districts with Negro majorities.

Vote Rights Legislation Is Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Judiciary subcommittee today bypassed President Nixon's proposed voting rights legislation and approved a five-year extension of the existing law.

The administration proposal to shift the focus of the act from the South to the nation at large was never even offered during the brief subcommittee session.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said approval of the 1965 act extension was by "overwhelming" voice vote. The full Judiciary Committee is also expected to approve the bill when it considers it next week.

Ex-Arkansas Prisoners to Testify

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Twelve former inmates of the Arkansas prison system who are serving sentences in other states were called Wednesday to testify in a U.S. Grand Jury investigation of alleged brutality to inmates in the state penitentiary.

Also testifying were one inmate from Tucker Prison Farm and five from Cummins Prison Farm.

Included was Winston Talley, 30, whose petition in 1965 resulted in an order by U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Hensley that forbade the use of the leather strap to discipline inmates unless it was used under explicit rules. Use of the strap later was declared unconstitutional.

About 10 former convicts at Tucker during the administration of Jim Bruton also were called to testify.

22-Year-Old Patty Is Still Tiny But Wants Mature Roles

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — She is still tiny, still vibrant, still beautiful.

But at 22, celebrating her 15th anniversary in show business, child star Patty Duke is definitely no longer a child star. She is now a mature 5 foot 11 — weight 98 pounds — and anxious to tackle mature roles.

"When I was younger it used to bother me that I was so small," she said. "It doesn't anymore, although I suppose it wouldn't hurt if I were a couple of inches taller."

In her latest film, "Me, Natalie," she plays a love-awakened 18-year-old girl moving about in the world of the wounded young.

Patty is planning soon to move from the West Coast back to Manhattan, where she was born in Bellevue Hospital on Dec. 14, 1946. Her father was a cab driver, her mother a restaurant cashier.

At 7 Patty started her phenomenal acting career. In the busy years that followed she appeared in several plays, more than 50 television shows, and a

Lengthy Countdown for Apollo 11's Moon Trip Will Start Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The lengthy countdown begins tonight for Apollo 11's journey to the moon.

At 8 p.m. EDT, the launch team will feed electrical power to the giant Saturn 5 rocket, starting the countdown clock ticking toward a liftoff at 9:32 a.m. next Wednesday.

As crews completed systems checks on the 38-story-tall rocket-spacecraft combination today, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins planned a day-long workout in the command ship simulator, practicing the engine maneuver that shoots them out of earth orbit and sets them on a quarter-million-mile course to the moon.

They are to orbit the moon July 19, and the next day Armstrong and Aldrin are to fly a fragile lunar module (LM) to man's first landing on the lunar surface.

Early on July 21, first Armstrong, then Aldrin step outside for an exploration period scheduled to last about 2½ hours.

The countdown is 93 hours, but it is spread over 5½ days. This allows for several planned holds to give the crew rest and time to correct any problems that might arise.

President Likes Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he likes his new office in the Executive Office Building next to the White House because people are less likely to barge in on him while he's working.

When he is using the presidential office in the White House, he told newsmen Wednesday, "naturally people feel they can come in and talk."

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — She is still tiny, still vibrant, still beautiful.

But at 22, celebrating her 15th anniversary in show business, child star Patty Duke is definitely no longer a child star. She is now a mature 5 foot 11 — weight 98 pounds — and anxious to tackle mature roles.

"When I was younger it used to bother me that I was so small," she said. "It doesn't anymore, although I suppose it wouldn't hurt if I were a couple of inches taller."

In her latest film, "Me, Natalie," she plays a love-awakened 18-year-old girl moving about in the world of the wounded young.

Patty is planning soon to move from the West Coast back to Manhattan, where she was born in Bellevue Hospital on Dec. 14, 1946. Her father was a cab driver, her mother a restaurant cashier.

At 7 Patty started her phenomenal acting career. In the busy years that followed she appeared in several plays, more than 50 television shows, and a

Apollo 11 to Carry First Mail to Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apollo 11 will carry the first mail, as well as the first man, to the moon.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said Wednesday the spacecraft will carry a special moon letter and an engraved master stamp die. Upon the astronauts' return, Blount said, the die will be used to produce a 10-cent airmail stamp commemorating the first moon landing.

The letter will be hand-canceled by astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. Its postmark will read "Moon Landing U.S.A., July 20, 1969."

Appropriations Says Cut Indian Affairs Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee has recommended cutting the Bureau of Indian Affairs budget by $6.5 million, knocking out all money to help public schools start kindergartens for Indian children.

The public school kindergarten program of $2.3 million would have provided 107 classrooms for 3,200 students.

Funds to build 59 kindergarten rooms at BIA schools at a cost of $4 million were left intact.

In a report made public today, the committee questioned whether public schools needed the money since many already provide kindergarten classes. The committee said it had asked the Interior Department and BIA for more information but got nothing that convinced it to change its position.

Another $6.1 million was trimmed from relocation services for Indians. The administration proposed increasing the relocation budget by $9.5 million, a hike of 100 per cent above the past budget, but the committee said it doubted such a speedup could be handled efficiently.

The cut leaves $11.9 million for relocation, compared with $8.6 million in fiscal 1969.

The only increase made in the administration budget was for $2 million to speed up the Navajo irrigation project, making a total of $5.5 million available for the upcoming fiscal year.

New Hope Church Sponsors Revival

Revival services will begin Sunday, July 13 at the New Hope Baptist Church located four miles north on Highway 4. Rev. Carlton Roberts is the pastor and Rev. Larry Gaines of Ft. Worth, Tex., will be the evangelist.

There will be an all-day observance of "Home Coming" on Sunday. Revival services for the remainder of the week will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Would Allow Business to 'Wheel, Deal'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Urged to permit businesses to "wheel and deal," the Arkansas Constitutional Convention approved Wednesday a proposal that would allow corporations to pay more than 10 per cent interest a year on loans of more than $10,000.

The proposal, offered in the form of an amendment by Delegate Ben Hogan Jr. of Little Rock, passed on a vote of 53-37, but Robert Meriwether of Little Rock gave notice of reconsideration.

The amendment was to be brought up for another vote today. The present Constitution forbids an interest rate of more than 10 per cent annually.

Hogan, president of a Little Rock construction firm, said the convention should "let the business community alone."

"Let us wheel and deal and do whatever we want to do," he said.

Hogan said the convention possibly had become overly concerned with protecting the "little man."

C. Randolph Warner Jr. of Fort Smith, supporting Hogan's amendment, said Arkansas was "capital-starved," adding, "We have no legitimate interest in saying a business cannot use this source of money."

John Elrod of Rison said the state wasn't "capital-starved" and H. M. Alderson of Stuttgart feared problems if the amendment were approved.

"I believe this amendment will be the first hole in the dike," he said. "After that, the deluge."

The convention defeated 9-80 a usury amendment that would give the legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, regulate interest and license and regulate lenders. It also would have given the legislature authority to fix maximum rates of interest. In the absence of rates fixed by the legislature, all contracts calling for interest of more than 10 per cent would have been declared usurious.

The delegates did not get to the main usury issue—whether to retain the present 10 per cent ceiling—but it was expected to come to a vote today after Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller addressed the group and after Hogan's amendment was reconsidered.

Claud Byrd Commander of Legion

Claud H. Byrd was elected new Commander by the American Legion at a meeting of Leslie Huddleston Post 12 on Tuesday night. Also elected were Herschel R. Johnson, First Vice-Commander; E.S. Franklin, Second Vice-Commander; Joe Jones, Chaplain; and Dewey Hendrix, Sergeant at Arms.

Senate Group Groping for Ways to Cut High Cost of Medical Care

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee is groping for ways to halt spiraling costs of Medicare and Medicaid programs without extensive government intervention in fees charged made by physicians and hospitals.

If a solution is not found, some senators say, pressure may develop before long for Congress to assume the task of fixing the charges.

The committee, in opening a lengthy investigation of costs and abuses in the two big health programs, said expenses already exceeded original estimates by $4.8 billion a year.

Members were unanimous in the view this trend could not be permitted to continue, at least not at the same rate.

It was evident from testimony that soaring costs were posing a far bigger problem for the programs than abuses.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, No. 2 Republican on the committee, said he was dis-

First Group of Marines at Okinawa

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The first contingent of U.S. Marines to be withdrawn from Vietnam flew to Okinawa today as military spokesmen reported the lowest weekly number of American battle deaths in almost six months.

The Marines left with none of the fanfare accorded departing U.S. infantrymen three days ago. An advance party of 120 Leathernecks of the 9th Regiment departed from Quang Tri, a base 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone, in two four-engined transports.

They included 60 combat troops of the 1st Battalion and the rest payroll and administrative personnel who will prepare for arrival of the main body of the 8,000-man regiment expected in Okinawa within the next few weeks. The rest of the 1st Battalion will leave in a few days, spokesmen said.

U.S. headquarters said 153 Americans were killed in action last week, the lowest death toll since the week ending Jan. 11 when 151 U.S. personnel were killed.

Spokesmen said the relative lull in combat activity accounted for the marked decrease from the preceding week's toll of 241 Americans, and from the weekly average of 243 American

War Deaths Lowest in Six Months

SAIGON (AP) — American battle deaths in Vietnam dropped to 153 last week, the lowest toll in almost six months, U.S. headquarters said today.

The relative lull in combat activity brought a marked decrease from the previous week when 241 Americans were killed in action, and the total was far below the 243 weekly average of American dead the first 26 weeks this year.

The U.S. command said last week's toll was the lowest for a seven-day period since the week ending Jan. 11, when 151 U.S. personnel died in combat.

Another 1,584 Americans were wounded in action last week, 772 of them hospitalized, also below the 1,674 count of the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties and those reported among enemy forces also dropped sharply last week—247 government troops killed and 566 wounded compared with 446 killed and 804 wounded in the previous week, and 2,381 enemy killed compared with 3,485 the previous week.

The new casualties reports raised to 37,019 the number of Americans reported killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, 238,147 wounded and 1,325 listed as missing, captured or interned.

The U.S. Command lists 526,085 enemy killed since Jan. 1, 1961.

Unofficial counts show 14,068 Americans have been killed in action since preliminary Vietnam peace talks began in Paris May 13, 1968, and 6,962 of these died since South Vietnam agreed to join the talks last Dec. 7.

The American command also announced there were 538,500 U.S. troops in Vietnam at the end of last week, a drop of 1,000 from the previous week's total. This again was described as an administrative change and did not reflect any of the U.S. troop withdrawals started this week.

Hot, Muggy Weather to Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hot, muggy weather was forecast again today for Arkansas with little promise of change in the heat wave in sight, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Temperatures are expected to continue in the high 90s and low 100s.

The same high pressure ridge and the same hot tropical air mass holds most of the South in its grasp as it has for the last two weeks.

High temperature Wednesday was 102 at Pine Bluff and Little Rock. The temperature at Little Rock equals the record high for that date.

The forecast calls for an increase in moisture but for the most part the state should remain dry and hot. Low tonight is expected to be from 74-79.

Overnight lows included 70 at Fayetteville, 74 at Fort Smith, 75 at El Dorado, Little Rock and Pine Bluff, 76 at Harrison, 78 at Jonesboro, 79 at Texarkana and 80 at Memphis.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Try to Lie Flat on Back If Caught in Quicksand

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Here is a bit of information I hope you will never need but, if you ever do, you will need it badly. Every year some persons venture into a bit of terrain that turns out to be quicksand. There can be no more terrifying experience.

If you suspect that you are sinking in quicksand you may, if you are only ankle-deep, be able to run back to safety. If you sink knee-deep, you will keep on sinking if you stand still or if you panic and struggle violently to free yourself. Your only hope is to throw yourself flat on your back with your arms stretched out at your sides. In this position you will float.

If you are carrying a gun, drop it; unbuckle your knapsack; and remove your coat if you can. Don't hold your arms upward—they will only weigh you down. Shout for help if anyone is within hailing distance. If help arrives, caution him not to come close to you but to extend a pole or toss a rope by which you can be pulled to safety.

If no help is near, you should slowly roll toward solid ground or turn on your stomach and "swim" using a slow breast stroke.

Q—Is an arterial embolism always a blood clot? What can be done for it? Can one regain good health after it is gone?

A—Although most emboli that plug a small artery are detached blood clots, air introduced into a vein may reach an artery and block it. A fat embolism may result when marrow from a fractured bone gets into an artery.

The enzyme, urokinase, has been used successfully to dissolve some emboli due to clots. How complete the recovery would depend on how long the tissues supplied by the artery were deprived of oxygen.

Q—Would there be any danger from taking a large dosage of sodium fluoride for a long time?

A—As with all drugs, too great a dosage is dangerous. Sodium fluoride is of value in preventing dental decay in children and softening of the bones in adults. Too large a dosage may cause mottling of the enamel of your teeth. The drug should be taken only under medical supervision.

Tank Shortage Has Developed in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major tank shortage may be developing because of the Army's preoccupation with the new, sophisticated and trouble-ridden Sheridan weapon system, says a House armed services investigating subcommittee.

"We need more tanks. I am not at all happy about our tank combat situation in Europe," said subcommittee Chairman Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., Wednesday, in releasing a report on the Sheridan.

Further, the subcommittee accused the Army of trumping up a need for the Sheridan in 1959, pushing it into production before testing was complete, and covering up difficulties to keep budget funds flowing.

The tank strength in Europe has been sapped because the Army stopped making the mainstay M60 tank in 1967 while at the same time it was selling an unspecified number of the same model to Iran, Austria and Italy, the subcommittee said.

"Not only did the Army fail to maintain an adequate production rate of M60's during the 1960's, but they slowed down the production line and even closed it in 1967 to produce the M60E2, which still cannot be deployed because of deficiencies," the report said.

The E2 modification is an M60 tank fitted with a special turret that allows conventional shells and Shillelagh missiles to be fired from the same barrel.

The special turret is an offshoot of the Sheridan tank, which has been plagued by electronic difficulties, faulty ammunition, and mechanical breakdowns.

"Ten years of effort and some $1.2 billion have now been committed to the Sheridan-Shillelagh effort," the report said. "Yet there is no convincing evidence that the system represents enough of an improvement in combat capability over existing weapons (used in a proper mix, or appropriately modified) to justify any such expenditures of time and money," it said.

Separately, Army spokesmen said the subcommittee did not give "full weight" to the combat performance of the Sheridan in Vietnam, where few have been deployed.

State Head of AFL-CIO Wants to Check AIDC

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—J. Bill Becker, president of the Arkansas State AFL-CIO, asked permission Wednesday to examine advertising copy prepared for the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission to make sure labor-management laws had not been violated. Becker also said in a letter to Gov. Windrop Rockefeller that it was his "information" that the AIDC, "in order to lure prospective employers to locate in our state, has promised that they will do everything possible to help keep the union out."

"In my opinion, this is clearly a violation of the law," Becker wrote. Becker originally had written Rockefeller asking that AIDC advertising copy eliminate references to the state's "right-to-work" law. The governor had replied that he hoped to improve standards in Arkansas to the point where no one can "trade in human misery."

Soap Opera Star Tunes in, Out On Life's Realities

By JOYCE GABRIEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Can a young, shapely redhead find true happiness as a TV soap opera heroine?

Mary Stuart says yes — and she should know. For 18 years, Mary of the red-gold hair has played Joanne Tate on CBS-TV's daytime serial, "Search for Tomorrow." For someone who plays "Everywoman" five days a week, Mary Stuart is refreshingly un-Everywomanish.

Miss Stuart and her two children — she's divorced — live in a luxurious apartment on New York's East Side. She looks like the chic, vibrant sister of her TV counterpart.

"Joanne is me without a sense of humor," explains Mary, "and she's a lot older than I am."

There is a youthful eagerness and a look of live anticipation in her face.

"I walk around in a state of constant amazement," she said. "I don't take things for granted. I'm delighted when things are beautiful and I'm disappointed when they're ugly."

Her children, Cynthia, 12, and Jeffrey, 10, amaze and please her most.

"I never had what they call 'mother love,'" she said. "I've grown to like and respect my children as individuals. They're good workers, they can concentrate, and they do their own thing."

The admiration isn't one-sided, either.

"My children respect my work," she said. "I'm not just 'there' for them—we can communicate with one another."

The family is creative. Cynthia sculpts, Jeffrey has a flair for acting — only school productions so far — and their mother plays guitar and writes songs, in addition to her acting chores.

"I compose the way I act," she explained. "I feel it in my stomach. I do everything by feel."

Then she laughed. "My daughter, Cynthia, once said to me, 'Mother, you can take reality or leave it alone.' I guess she's right."

One subject that brings Mary back to reality is soap operas.

"Critics are tiresome," she said. "They never watch the show—they just equate 'soap opera' with bad."

Currently, the cast of "Search" is involved in one of its numerous murder trials—not exactly daily happenings for the folks next door.

"The show is as true to life as drama can be," she insisted. "We couldn't dramatize the lives of the people next door—who would watch?"

"We convey attitudes on the show. The other problems—integration, student unrest, the war—are too big."

Then her expression changed. The discussion was too rooted in unpleasant realities.

"I love music," she said, stroking the cat which had jumped up onto her lap. "My favorites are 17th- and 18th-century classical pieces — and 'Hair.' We've already worn out one album, and we play our second one all the time."

She picked up her guitar and started strumming, softly. Her expression was wistful and a little longing. She sang:

"My window's always open, Reaching for the world I see:

"My heart behind the curtain open,

"Afraid to touch or care too much."

She put the guitar aside and her expression was animated.

"I can see the ridiculous in a lot of things," she said. "I'd like to do a funny play, like 'Luv.'"

Mary Stuart plays Joanne Tate in the daytime serial, "Search for Tomorrow."

Some Advice for Pregnant Women

Pregnancy is a happy time for most women — but it is also a time when many women develop bad eating habits. Further, it is a time when many women first develop ugly varicose veins.

How to enjoy the happiness of pregnancy, while avoiding its pitfalls, was outlined this week by William O. Elson, director of the research laboratories of the Kendall Company. "First of all, see your obstetrician or family doctor very early in your pregnancy," Elson recommended. "Don't wait until the fifth or sixth month.

"Your doctor will put you on a diet, and he'll tell you to forget that old saw about 'I'm eating for two' because all that can do is get you into serious trouble," the scientist said.

According to a national organization of obstetricians, 20 per cent of the four million women who will be pregnant this year will gain too much weight. Dangerous eating habits can be formed, habits very difficult to break after the baby is born.

20-Pound Gain Normal

A weight gain of 20 pounds is about normal. The baby and other by-products of pregnancy total about 11 pounds, and the balance is fluid stored in plasma and tissue, which is soon lost after delivery.

"Even this normal gain of 20 pounds puts a strain on the mother-to-be's legs," said Elson. "If she has weak veins, those veins near the surface of her legs will slowly stretch and dilate, and ugly varicose veins may permanently mar the beauty of her legs."

"Varicose veins can never be restored to normal. The only logical thing to do is to try to prevent their development in the first place. Here's where modern support hosiery can be most helpful — for they exert a scientifically planned distribution of compression, which gives important support to surface veins, and which tends to divert some of the blood-flow into deeper veins which have better natural support."

"And today's young mother needn't be concerned about sacrificing any of her high-fashion appearance when she puts on support stockings, because it is true that 'until the wind blows, nobody knows' you're wearing them," concluded Elson.

Speedy Beef Stew From Belgium

From Belgium comes the beef stew known as Carbonnade Flamande, a classical main dish richly endowed with onions and often flavored with beer. In the easy-to-make recipe which follows, canned roast beef with gravy reduces the cooking time, and work greatly without sacrificing the traditional good taste, and apple juice or cider supplies the typical subtle flavoring.

The canned roast beef with gravy which is the mainstay of the dish is fully cooked and nicely seasoned as it comes from the can. That means that the ingredients to be measured are few, and the only cooking required is simple and quick: the sauteing of the onions, the heating and thickening of the stew a matter of about 20 minutes. That makes the dish a treat for the home cook as well as the diners, because of the work that doesn't have to be done!

Traditionally Carbonnade Flamande is served with whole boiled potatoes dressed with butter or margarine and sprinkled with parsley or chives. A green vegetable, crisp salad, and home-style bread, will complete a delightful main course.

| 1 tablespoon bacon drippings or shortening | 2 cans (12 ounces each) roast beef with gravy |
| 1 cup apple juice or apple cider           | 1 tablespoon flour                            |
| Dash of pepper                             | 3 tablespoons water                           |
|  | Whole cooked potatoes                         |

Saute onions in drippings. Add apple juice, pepper, parsley and roast beef with gravy. Bring to a boil. Blend flour with water and stir in, cook until mixture is thickened and bubbling. Serve over whole cooked potatoes.

Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Summer Party Cake

It's summertime, so keep your baking easy. This beautiful cake gets its glamour from a cloud of whipped topping and a generous measure of fresh, fresh blueberries. It's made with Swans Down Lemon Fluke Cake Mix with an added whiff of spice.

LEMON FLUKE BLUEBERRY CAKE

- |                                |                          |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 package lemon fluke cake mix | 2 eggs                   |
| 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon          | Cinnamon Whipped Cream*  |
| 1/4 cups water                 | 2 cups fresh blueberries |

*Or use 2 cups prepared whipped topping, flavored with cinnamon. It's desired.

Prepare cake mix as directed on package, adding cinnamon with water and eggs before beating. Bake as directed for a 9 inch square pan. Cut cooled cake crosswise in half to form 2 layers. Spread 1 cup Cinnamon Whipped Cream over bottom layer and top with about 1 cup blueberries. Place second layer on top and swirl remaining cream over cake. Sprinkle with remaining blueberries. Cut in 3 inch squares. Makes 9 servings.

Cinnamon Whipped Cream. Combine 1 cup (1/2 pt.) heavy cream, 2 teaspoons sugar, a dash of cinnamon, and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla in a chilled bowl. Whip just until soft peaks will form. Do not overbeat. Makes 2 cups.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

A Nectarine Sauce Can Perk Up Meat

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Getting woefully tired of the same old meats? Dress up the appearance and taste of ham, frankfurters or pork chops with a colorful and sharp nectarine mustard sauce.

Nectarines will be in top-notch flavor and supply this season due to the very warm weather in the San Joaquin Valley. Simply slice a few and combine with basic ingredients for the sauce. To dress up the table, serve in a compote or attractive soup bowl, whichever is at hand.

This is an easy way to impress family or friends at mealtime.

HOT MUSTARD

NECTARINES
2 to 4 fresh nectarines
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar
(packed)

3 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon vinegar

Slice nectarines to measure 2 cups. Melt butter in saucepan. Combine sugar, mustard and cornstarch; stir into butter. Bring to boil, then stir in vinegar and nectarines; cook 2 minutes longer. Serve with ham, franks or pork chops. Makes 1½ cups.

Easy-to-Make Cocktail Snacks

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Few spots are as crowded with thirsty and hungry persons as the mythical 19th hole at the golf club. For golfers, the 19th hole offers a traditional chance to impress others with a tale of a chip into the cup or just bluff through after a round of 100-plus.

So many women are taking up the sport that more clubs feature special, women-allowed, days. For women who like to entertain after a few holes of golf or entertain golfing friends at other times, here are recipes for simple cocktail snack balls starting with canned deviled ham, chicken or liverwurst. They are easy to make.

DEVILICIOUS SESAME BALL
1 4½-oz. can deviled ham
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1 tbsp. mayonnaise
3 tbsp. chopped chives
1 tsp. soy sauce
3 tbsp. sesame seeds
Assorted crackers

Combine all ingredients except sesame seeds and crackers until well-blended, chill. Toast sesame seeds in shallow pan at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes, stir occasionally to brown evenly, cool. Mound well-chilled deviled ham mixture on wax paper. With a knife, roughly shape into ball. Sprinkle sesame seeds on paper, roll spread in seeds until completely coated. Shape into smooth ball with hands, chill. Serve with assorted crackers. Makes about 1 cup spread.

CHICKEN SESAME BALL
1 4½-oz. can chicken spread
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1 tbsp. mayonnaise
2 tbsp. chopped chives
¾ tsp. soy sauce

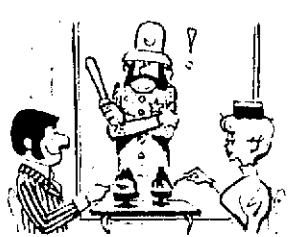

Follow directions for Devilicious Sesame Ball.

¼ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. sesame seeds
Assorted crackers
LIVERWURST SESAME BALL
1 4½-oz. can liverwurst spread
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
¼ cup chopped chives
1 tsp. soy sauce
¾ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. sesame seeds
Assorted crackers

Follow directions for Devilicious Sesame Ball.

"QUIZ" — This word was deliberately created, in 1780, by a Dublin theater-owner on a bet that he could invent a meaningless word and get people to use it. He and his friends painted the word "quiz" on fences, barns, and pavements all night long — and soon people were asking what it meant. Quiz became ask — and spread all over the world.

"SUNDAY" — An ancient Egyptian law made it illegal to sell ice-cream sodas on Sunday. So, a resourceful druggist created a substitute — a large scoop of ice cream covered with a flavored syrup. He created the name "Sunday" to suggest its use when he was not allowed to serve the then-popular soda!

shrimp are available at very high prices.

"Shrimp are particularly adaptable to quick freezing. More so than many other foods. The old-fashioned fixation about 'only fresh shrimp' is far out of date in these technological times. But not the demand for fresh-tasting shrimp. That is something different. In fact, flash-frozen shrimp are actually much fresher in taste than those trucked from various Gulf ports in the United States to distant cities throughout the country," Madero explains.

Shrimp Supplies Come From Afar

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

Shrimp may be small but they hold a large space in our gastronomic economy. In the United States we consume more than 400 million pounds a year. About 70 per cent are eaten in restaurants.

On the East Coast, shrimp cocktail is the favorite choice. In the Midwest and South it is French-fried shrimp. French-fried also on leading shrimp fanciers. Reports show, however, that the over-50s seem to prefer oysters and clams. Which demonstrates the fact that shrimp is a relatively recent favorite.

Because of our affluence and up-graded taste, our own shrimp boats no longer supply all we need and we import more than half from other countries. Mexico is our largest foreign supplier. Then comes far-off India.

Other countries include Panama, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Guiana, Venezuela, Brazil, Thailand, Japan and Spain.

Shrimp producers feel that when they have a good thing going they should flaunt it and this explains the creation of the International Shrimp Council in Washington, D.C.

An association organized to publicize shrimp, it also keeps the industry aware of strict U.S. legislation and regulations.

The current president is Mauricio Madero of Mexico City. He operates a fleet of shrimp boats and is prominent in other commercial ventures.

"Shrimp mean more to world economy than other fisheries—cod, herring, lobsters, etc.," Madero insists.

Practically all fresh shrimp sold in the United States today is quick frozen. Occasionally, a few unfrozen

Going to Live to Be 70'

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WAYNE, Mich.—(NEA)—Last December Donald Kaminsky went to the University of Michigan medical center for the final word on his heart condition.

The word was grim. Specialists told Kaminsky he was dying, that he had only three other alternatives: one, continue medication and survive possibly another year; two, have a pair of new valves inserted into his heart and run an 80 per cent risk of operational death; three, cut the old heart out completely and put in a new one with a 50-50 chance of success.

Today, seven months later, 39-year-old Don Kaminsky is "damn glad I took the third choice. Heck, I'd probably be in the grave if I didn't."

Kaminsky, one of 19 surviving heart transplant patients in the United States, and one of 32 in the world, is hardly in the grave.

He says, "I never felt so good in my life. Man, I feel 10 years young. I can walk as far as I want, I can run, too. I eat like a hog, sleep like a log—and, let me tell you, I'm having a ball."

Officials at the U.M. medical center are "overjoyed" with his progress. In succeeding checkups (the goes in for a physical once a month) no complications have been found. His medicine has been reduced from 200 pills a day immediately after the transplant to a current nine. His pulse, respiration and stamina are good. "Kaminsky," says one medic, "is alive and well and probably off fishing."

And if not fishing, adds

Kaminsky himself, then something, anything else.

"Man, I'm raising hell. I mean I'm doing whatever I want to do. Nothing seems to bother me now."

"I walk a mile every morning before breakfast. I can climb up any flight of stairs you name. I can fish all day and then go into the nearest town and drink booze all the rest of the night."

"I even smoke. A pack a day. It's O.K. — seven of the nine heart specialists at the University smoke. They told me as long as I kept it moderate, it'd be all right. So only one pack a day. And I feel great."

How Don Kaminsky feels is a bright light in the otherwise dim corridors of human heart transplants. Seventy-five per cent of the patients who have undergone this operation have died. A number of those surviving are plagued by recurring side ailments.

Not Kaminsky, however.

"You know," he says, "I've read about most of the other guys (other transplant recipients) and you know what? I think they all worry too much. They get depressed or something, and they get the feeling they won't make it."

"Personally, I don't let anything bother me. I got a second lease on life. I know it and I ain't got time to sit around moping. I'm going to make it. I'm going to live to be 70 and that's all I care about."

Kaminsky's attitude has been of enormous therapeutic value. And though heart specialists cannot confirm his life expectancy prediction, none of those who operated on him suggests it isn't possible.

Besides, as one medical observer says, even if the man doesn't live to be 70, "the way he's going it'll probably seem that way."

Divorced and financially stable (his $43,000 medical bills have been paid by several sources), he is free to pursue any interest. He has become a minor celebrity in the state (along with two other surviving Michigan heart recipients). He boats, swims, rides horses—and puts 4,000 miles on his car every month.

As he says, he's making up for lost time:

"Before, I couldn't sleep.

I couldn't eat. I couldn't walk 10 feet. I was a salesman, but I couldn't sell. I was walking dead, you know? I'd look at myself in the mirror and I knew I was a goner."

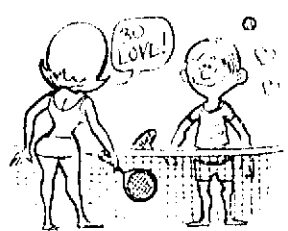

"But look at me now. I've gained 35 pounds. I eat pizza, hot dogs, steak. I drink beer. Man, I'm healthy. I really feel like a kid again."

And, he adds, he means to stay this way.

"Now don't get me wrong. I ain't just going crazy. I watch myself. I pace myself. If I get tired, I slow down. If I don't know something, I check with the doctors. In other words, I take care of myself now. That's the best thing I learned from all this, you know, taking care of myself. I wish everybody could learn that. Hell, you know, if everybody learned just that one thing, then we wouldn't have to have no heart transplants at all."

Strange Origins Of Some Common Words

"LOVE" — In tennis, "love" means no score, a puzzling term for it makes no sense — until you know the reason. In France, where the game originated, the term for no score was "l'oeuf" — meaning "egg" — just as Americans sometimes say "goose egg," meaning the very same thing — a big zero on the score board. To English tongues, "l'oeuf" soon became "love."

"OUCHLESS" — This word was also created — by an ad man to dramatize the fact that Curad bandages can be removed without pain because of a patented Telfa pad which will not adhere to a wound. Actually, this painless feature is not as important as another advantage of the same "ouchless" bandage: it does not interrupt healing, because the seal remains intact when the bandage is removed. Understandably, that's too long a story for even an ad man to compress into a single word! Try it yourself.

Cheeseburger, Spanish Style

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Spain remains a masculine stronghold. A few women are in business but, traditionally, the mother-housewife stays home. In fact, a businessman's wife rarely is invited to business dinners or lunches. I discovered while sampling menus in Madrid and Sevilla. His secretary may accompany the executive but rarely his spouse.

Separation of male-female duties heightens the surprise of finding a Spanish aristocrat who likes to cook and is proud of his culinary interests. He is Luis de Soto, an olive grower and executive in the Spanish Olive Commission. Fortunately, his interests in food meld with his duties. The charming man came up with a tempting variation on the American hamburger. For some reason Europeans and hamburger preparation are at odds. Senor de Soto's version features square beef patties, pan-broiled with a tempting topping of cheese and chopped pimiento-stuffed olives with a tomato sauce on the side. They're muy bueno!

SPANISH OLIVE CHEESEBURGERS

1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits

Spanish-twist to cheeseburgers.

- 1/2 cup small pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 tablespoon dark brown sugar
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 small onion, coarsely chopped
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper
- 1 clove garlic, halved
- 1/4 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
- 4 slices crisp toast
- 4 slices Cheddar cheese (about 4 ounces)

Combine tomato sauce, whole olives and sugar in saucepan; cook covered over low heat 15 minutes. Meanwhile, lightly shape beef into 4 square patties about 1/2-inch thick and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown on both sides. Remove from skillet and keep warm. Melt butter in same skillet; add onion, green pepper and garlic. Saute until lightly brown. Discard garlic and add chopped olives. Arrange toast on heat-proof serving dish. Place hamburgers on toast and top with olive mixture, then cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Spoon tomato sauce around burgers and serve. Makes 4.

A Wise Buy to Help Cut That Food Bill

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Ever get the feeling you should invite the grocer, garage mechanic, dry cleaner and department store manager to your home for a weekly bill-paying party? Just spread the green on the table and serve with coffee and cakes. It should save on gasoline and shoes.

However, if you must visit merchants personally, watching for food specials in newspaper ads can aid the budget. For example, have you thought of buying a whole loin of pork when there is a special on pork ribs or loin ends? The little piggy now come to market leaner and meatier and fit our diet-conscious mood. By buying a special you get choice center-cut chops at a savings, if you have freezer space.

Medium-weight loins run from 14 to 22 pounds and that's a lot of pork. Have the butcher cut your pork loin so you get six shoulder chops, for example, from the blade or rib end; the center for a roast or have it sliced into center-cut chops as thick as you prefer. You'll want the loin end left whole for roasting.

Or it can be cubed for goulash or kebabs.

Use the shoulder chops within two days, perhaps as a one-dish meal of chops with sugar-spiced apple rings on a bed of sauteed rice.

Freezer wrap, mark and store the remaining pork for use sometime within three months

RICE 'N' APPLE CHOPS

- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 medium cooking apple, cored and cut into rings
- 2 to 3 tablespoons shortening
- 6 shoulder pork chops (about 1/2-inch thick)
- Salt
- Pepper
- 1 1/2 cups packaged enriched precooked rice
- 1 medium cooking apple, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt

Combine brown sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle apple rings with 2 teaspoons sugar

A tasty bed for pork chops.

cinnamon mixture; set aside remaining mixture. Saute apple rings in shortening in a skillet until lightly browned; remove from skillet and drain on absorbent paper. Season pork chops with salt and pepper. Brown in skillet on both sides until well done. Remove from skillet and keep warm. Saute rice, chopped apple, celery and onion in skillet until tender and rice is browned. Add water. 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and the reserved sugar-cinnamon mixture; bring quickly to a full boil. Cover, remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes or until water is absorbed. Spoon rice mixture into serving dish. Arrange browned pork chops and apple rings on top. Six servings.
